Reports Presented At Fish and Game Association Meeting

A meeting of the Fish and Game Association was held Friday night, when reports were received from the committees appointed at the annual meeting last spring. A list of names of fifty members of the local association was compiled to send in to the provincial body, accompanied by the regular fee for membership, but it was decided not to send a delegate to the annual meeting at Edmonton to be held in early September as finances would not permit an outlay.

Reports from the pests committee showed that stray cats were doing more damage to wild bird life than any other pest and it was agreed after discussion to have all hunters returning at night to shoot all stray cats seen on the road.

Four fry placed in the tributaries of the Fallon Timber creek were reported to be doing well.

Imported pheasants raised by the various members have been successful and are to be seen now in all parts of the district. Members are indignant at the report that a license fee of $1.00 would have to be paid by all those who raised wild birds, as the local association has been raising Chinese pheasants for some years, not for financial gain, but for the pleasure of sportsmen.

WEDDINGS.

MORTIMER-KNUDSVIG.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Lutheran Church, Camrose on Monday, August 28th, when Miss Lydia Knudsvig became the bride of Mr. Frank W. S. Mortimer of Calgary.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with white flowers and pink, green and white streamers.

The bride entered on the arm of her eldest brother, Mr. John Knudsvig to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mrs. J. H. Fleury, of Didsbury.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white crepe and lace and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and gladioli, trimmed with streamers of ivory knots. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. L. Foster, of Edmonton, who wore a beautiful gown in a pastel shade of green crepe and lace. Each wore turban hats to match. The flower girl, Miss Sylvia Foster, niece of the bride, carried a basket of pink and mauve sweet peas.

The groom was supported by Mr. John Fleury, of Didsbury.

During the signing of the register, "I Love You Truly" was sung by Miss Florence Daggaard, of St. Albert, with violin obligato played by Miss Lind, of Camrose.

After the ceremony the guests were entertained at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. Ofrim, and a delicious buffet-luncheon was served.

The happy couple will spend their honeymoon visiting various points of interest around Banff and Windermere and upon their return will make their home in Calgary.

There were about forty guests present, and these outside of Camrose were Mr. and Mrs. Harper, Mr. Jack Reid, Mrs. Watt, and Mrs. R. Stephen, all of Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. Len Foster, Edmonton; Miss Florence Daggaard, St. Albert; Mr. and Mrs. J. Mjolsness and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fleury, Didsbury.

Rev. Carlson, of Camrose, officiated.

THOM-HEMBLING.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Hembling, Oxana, B.C. (formerly of Didsbury), when their eldest daughter, Lillian Eileen Orrisa became the bride of William Archibald Cullen Thom, of Vernon, B.C., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thom, of Edmonton, Alberta.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Hembling, and her brother George supported the groom. Little Sydney Barbara Hembling, niece of the bride, attended as flower girl.

The ceremony was performed under a beautiful arch of flowers and vines by the Rev. D. J. Roland, of Vernon. Later the happy couple left for a short honeymoon at the coast and on their return will reside in Vernon.

Broadcast Plans Now Completed.

There will be four hours each night on the western network of which one and one half hours will be on the national chain, the program embracing one half hour from Western Canada and the remainder of National broadcasting from Eastern Canada or from the N.B.C. or Columbia systems.

First Load of New Wheat

To Mr. Jake Brown goes the honor of delivering the first load of new wheat to town this season. The grain was delivered at the Alberta Wheat Pool elevator and was a good sample of No. 2 Garnet.

Mr. Brown commenced cutting wheat on August 10th and started threshing operations on Tuesday. At the time of going to press about 1500 bushels had been threshed. The yield is estimated at 25 bushels to the acre.

On Tuesday Mr. Noah Swain also delivered a load of wheat to the Alberta Pacific elevator. The wheat was Garnet and graded No. 2 and was harvested and threshed by the combine Mr. Swain is operating on his farm.

Is There Gold In West Country?

A party from town went out west on Tuesday to file mining claims on a creek about 8 miles from the Big Red and 90 miles southwest of here, where it is claimed that some old prospect workings have been discovered.

The story goes that years ago an old miner sold a quantity of gold in Calgary which he had obtained in the country west of here, but he died without giving the location of his prospects. Since that time there have been periodic searches made for the lost mine without success, but a couple of weeks ago Ralph Jones and Jim May found what they think are the old man's workings. A number of claims were located last week and samples sent to Calgary for an assay, but returns have not yet been obtained.

A mild excitement has been caused both here and in Carstairs and the woods are likely to be full of prospectors. Well, gold is where you find it.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Adshhead and family returned from their vacation Sunday. They visited Mrs. Adshhead's parents at Wyndell, B.C. and motored in the national park and other points of interest.

Test H.B. Route

Will Investigate High Insurance and Cargo Rates

The Federal Government is prepared to consider the feasibility of tests by Canadian government vessels of the Hudson Bay route before the present accepted season and after the season, it is indicated by Edward Evans manager of the Southern Saskatchewan stock yards at Moose Jaw. The suggestion is the result of the recent Saskatchewan stock growers conference and its purpose is to determine the justice or otherwise of existing high insurance and cargo rates. Mr. Evans has received notification that an official of the Federal Department of Trade and Commerce will shortly come to Saskatchewan to discuss the proposal.

Danger Spots For Pedestrians

Five Are Listed For Guidance Of Careless Walker

Five principal danger spots lurk in traffic for the unwary pedestrian according to an analysis of accident reports. A large proportion of traffic deaths involve persons on foot and the circumstances, listed in the order of their frequency, are: Crossing the street between intersections; crossing at intersections; coming into the street from behind parked cars; walking on or along rural highways, particularly when failing to walk facing oncoming traffic; and children playing in the street.

Avalanche Victims Found

With the melting of the snow on the Swiss Alps six of 13 avalanche victims have been found 7,500 feet above Locarno. The 13 were smuggling sugar and coffee across the frontier when the avalanche swept them from a pass and buried them under snow, ice and rock 3,000 feet below. Search for the remaining seven is being continued.

Prompt and Efficient

Member of Detroit Automobile Club Tells Good Story

Depression or no depression, some American organizations continue to give prompt and efficient service. Take the case of the Detroit Automobile Club. A friend of ours who is a member of it thus writes:

"I had a little car smash recently, and presently received a letter from two lawyers demanding that I pay $225 for damages to the other car. As I felt the accident was not my fault, I sent the letter to the automobile club, and the next day both lawyers were struck by lightning. Personally, I think that is carrying things too far, but I suppose the automobile club knows what it is doing."—London Advertiser.

Not All Superstitious

A ten-minute checkup on the person trying to negotiate a ladder set up on the sidewalk in Sacramento, California, was as follows: Of the forty-six women passing, thirty-four walked around and thirty-eight of the sixty-nine men did the same. Twenty-three men and twelve women walked under. Possibly some didn't want to be hit with a brick—or a gob of paint.

A Genius For Organizing

Lord Of Thousand Ships Was Millionaire At Thirty-Nine

One of the reasons why the "sun never sets on the British flag" was the organizing genius of Sir John Ellerman, son of a German bookseller. Sir John died recently in France, but in a hundred ports from Southampton to Sydney, his flag is flying on the ships which keep Britain first on the seas.

It was quite appropriate that Ellerman, the ship owner, should be the wealthiest man in Britain, whose life and prosperity depend upon sea-borne commerce. A few years back when many values had not risen so far as they have today, Sir John's wealth was estimated at from $100,000,000 to $300,000,000. That put him far ahead of any other Britisher and in the Henry Ford and Rockefeller class. Even today the thrifty British are calculating that the nation will collect $67,000,000 in death duties.

The Ellerman career, like that of Sir Thomas Lipton, proved that the art of being a self-made man bears no American patent. Ellerman rose from the humble place of black-coated English clerk in a shipping office. By 39 he was a millionaire. By 50 he owned one-eighth of all the British shipping.

He was frugal in a nation where somewhat free spending is the tradition of the wealthy. He never owned a yacht or a racing stable. It was said in the city that he never spent more than 5 per cent. of a year's income. The rest went into ships and more ships, land—he owned a large chunk of London and newspapers. His English estate, his newspaper holdings rivalled those of Northcliffe. But Ellerman never shared Arthur Harnsworth's passion for political influence. He was content to collect the dividends and let the other men advise the cabinet.

Preventing Barn Fires

Adequate Use Of Salt Retards and Prevents Spontaneous Combustion

The Ontario Fire Marshals' records show that more barns are destroyed by fire originating from spontaneous combustion in hay than from any other cause except lightning in un-roofed barns.

Harvest weather conditions in 1932 were so dangerous that more barn fires than ever were expected. Instead there were 278 fewer barns burned in Ontario and a decrease of 17 per cent. in the number of fires known to be caused by spontaneous combustion.

Credit for this is given to the more general use of salt. The adequate use of salt is the most certain way of retarding and preventing spontaneous ignition fires.

Canada's Hospitals

How well equipped the great majority of Canadian hospitals are is proved by the fact that out of the 863 given as the total, no fewer than 448 maintain their own X-ray departments, while 324 have their own clinical laboratories and 318 their physical therapy departments.

Further Economies Needed

National Revenue Appears To Be Below Level Of Last Year

An examination of the monthly report of the Comptroller of the Treasury at Ottawa furnishes a ready explanation of why members of the Treasury Board should be engaged in a close scrutiny of expenditures with the object of effecting further economies in harmony with the Budget pronouncement of the Hon. Mr. Rhodes.

In spite of the fact that increased taxation was authorized in the Budget speech, current revenue seems to be running below even the level of last year. The unrevised total for the first three months of the fiscal year is given as $2 millions as opposed to 105 millions for the same period of 1932-33, while current expenditures for the same three months total $6 millions, three millions below the figures for the previous fiscal year. This would seem to show that, while expenditures are running at a lower level in view of the economies introduced, revenues are falling even more precipitately, notwithstanding the additional taxes put in force. And the greatest declines are in customs duties, excise taxes, excise duties and income tax.

As compared with the first three months of the fiscal year 1932-33, customs duties collected have fallen by seven millions, excise duties by two millions, excise taxes by another million, and income taxes by six millions. The Department of National Revenue shows that there have been decreases in income tax collections, notwithstanding the higher rates placed in force, in ten districts.

The Minister of Finance forecast a drop of 14 millions in Dominion expenditures during the present fiscal year. The Government may not be able to reach such an objective, but it is quite clear that a downward movement in expenditures is advisable and that it will be welcomed by a great majority of the people of the country. Brockville Recorder and Times.

New Law Has Precedent

Death Penalty For Kidnappers In Year 1665

If New York state legislators decide to enact a law providing the death penalty for kidnappers, as has been urged, they will have precedent in the colony's first English laws, and precedent is dear to the legal mind.

On March 1, 1665, 269 years ago—were promulgated the Duke of York's laws which named 12 offences for which the death penalty was inflicted. One of them was kidnapping. It read: "If any person forcibly steal or carry away any man or woman, he shall be put to death."

Foretelling End Of World

Prophets Always Find Credulous People Who Believe Them

Once again a prophet has been made to look foolish by foretelling the end of the world on a certain date which has passed without anything happening. In this case it was a rich business man in London, who if he was sane enough to manage a successful business, ought to have been sane enough not to believe such tomfoolery. Yet he had sufficient faith in his beliefs to give away much of his wealth before the prescribed date, and unfortunately he persuaded a number of others to do the same. Today they are all sadder and wiser men.

It is strange that this sort of crankiness occurs from time to time. It has happened in nearly every country under the sun, and the procedure is the same in every instance. The prophet induces credulous people to whom he transmits his religious mania to give away almost everything they possess on the ground that they will stand a better chance of entering the Kingdom of Heaven if they are as penniless when they leave the world as when they came into it. The fact that the end of the world has been predicted often without result does not appear to deter other prophets from arising.

At Chatham, England, not far from London, is a huge building known as "Jezebel's Tower," about the size of Eaton's store in Toronto, which was erected about sixty years ago by a religious fanatic known as "Jezebel." He caused thousands of people to believe that the world would end on a specific day, and they subscribed a huge sum of money to build this place so that they would all assemble within the walls in preparation for the day, die together and pass into the Kingdom. Of course nothing happened, but a large number of dupes retained faith in him and felt that "Jezebel" was just a bit out of his reckoning. So they lived on in the immediate vicinity until they died, handing on the belief to their children, and although "Jezebel's Tower" is now a ruin inhabited only by rats, there are still some people occupying houses in the neighborhood who call themselves the "Jezebels," and can be distinguished by their mode of dress. St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Cannot Be Classified

Two fishermen have caught a marine monster that defies classification at Tacoma, Washington. The strange creature has the head and body of a reptile and the gills and fins of a fish. Powerful jaws enclose fangs nearly an inch long. The body is large and muscular for about 18 inches behind the head, then tapers off rapidly into a dark, scaly, reptile-like tail five feet in length.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt, young and beautiful student in an art school, unconsciously sketches the head of a fellow student during class and when she is supposed to be drawing a Grecian urn. The professor, looking at her sketch, endorses Camilla by having Peter Anson the boy whose head she sketched, criticize her work before the class. Afterwards Camilla goes to the park outside to cry. A hand touches her shoulder. It turns out to be Peter, who apologizes for his action and consoles her. Camilla secretly adores him. He misses a date to see her that evening but is astounded when she names an expensive night club. It is far beyond his means but he resolves to go through with it.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER III.

"Good evening sir," said the butler. "Good evening," Peter replied. "Mr. Anson, calling for Miss Hoyt?"

"Yes, sir. Come right in, sir."

Peter stepped into the cavernous hall. He hoped that he wouldn't have to meet the family. His apprehensions were relieved at once by a familiar voice from above. "Batten is that Mr. Anson?"

"Yes, Miss Camilla." His austere voice implied his disapproval of her unbecomingly.

"Tell him I'll be right down."

"Yes, Miss Camilla." He turned solemnly to Peter as if he had come a long way with the message. "Miss Hoyt will be right down sir."

Peter grinned. "So I heard!"

"Yes, sir!" Bates inclined his torso slightly, straightened and marched away stiffly.

Camilla fluttered down the broad stairway like a brilliant flower. Dazzling folds of soft bright yellow swirled from below a snug little bod-those generic persons who would give up anything he had to anyone who happened to need it more."

Her reply was misleading, but after a fleeting hesitation, he let it go at that. "Do I look that easy?" he demanded.

"About things that don't mean much to you. And I guess that material possessions don't."

"Well, that's better. Anyway, there are only a few things that mean a lot to me. Everything else is just accessories."

"Scripture is one of them," suggested Camilla.

"It is several of them, and that's about all I can consider for awhile."

"Will the other important things wait?"

"I hope they will," his voice was lower. "But they might have to wait a long time. Trouble of it is, life is too short. We need to do everything at once, and if we don't, we soon discover it's too late to begin."

"What for instance?"

"Whatever a man's ambitions are. And sometimes we even outgrow them, waiting to realize them. A person can miss a thing he wants to do for so long that he finally discovers he doesn't care about doing it any more. You hold an ambition ahead of you for a long time, then when you finally catch up to it, you discover that in the process of growing up to it, you have gone beyond it in experience. That is especially true of minor ambitions. Ever think about that?"

"No," Camilla replied. "I never did much thinking about anything until recently, and I've been so all mixed up that I haven't arrived anywhere yet."

He laughed indulgently. "Oh, well, why should a girl like you try to sion, that human element would have to command a prominent place in his life. Fame embraced more than public adulation of accomplishment, it demanded for that public a complete surrender of the private life and affairs of the adored. There was no escaping the payment for fame.

Peter decided that this was an excellent opportunity to enter the inner circle, if only as a bystander, and discover what it would be like. It wasn't that he sought personal approval. He only desired success. But he knew that the two were inseparable. It was evident that he could command the former without the latter, however. Camilla resented the way Cathie Harris and Lillian Berger flirted with Peter and let him know that he would be welcomed into their set at any time. She wondered if Peter loved and let him away.

She had not wanted to see the dazzling, extravagant revue, but it was thrilling to sit close beside Peter in the dimly-lighted theatre and look up to feel his eyes and lips close to hers when they exchanged murmured comments. The splendor of the stage, the awing velvet curtains, the gowns and jewels and suave luxury of the audience oppressed her. It might be so different, if—

But Camilla resolved that such thoughts should not mar this perfect evening. Perhaps never again would she have the exquisite joy of being close to Peter, alone with him, his eyes caressing her at every glance. She must tell him the truth. Of all the people in the world with whom she wanted to be fair—it was Peter, even if she never saw him again.

Her friends sought them in the lounge during the intermission. Cathie insisted that they join her party in their box, but Camilla was firm. This was her evening with Peter, and she was determined that no one should interfere. Peter wondered, uncomfortably, if she were reluctant to join her friends because she was ashamed of him. But whatever her reason might be, he was grateful to return with her after the intermission to their own seats, for which he had paid the extravagant sum of $6.00. That was the price for sitting beside Camilla for three hours, but it was worth it, when he had it. In the two months since he had discovered Camilla Hoyt in Professor Drake's class, he never had dared hope to be so near to her.

He was anxious for her pleasure. "Do you like the show?"

"She was anxious to reassure him. "Very much, don't you?"

"Sure," he agreed, but was thinking how much it had cost him and wondering how he would recover the loss. The show wasn't worth it, but being with Camilla compensated for any loss.

At the last curtain, he asked, "Did you say you liked the Maddox?"

"Wherever you wish to go."

"That's okay with me, too," he said easily, but he never had been there before.

nize Peter, but he knew Camilla and ushered them to a choice table with obsequious bows. That required a generous tip, Peter reflected. They were just seated when Cathie and her escort rushed up to greet them. There was nothing for Peter to do but invite them to make a foursome. Terry Wayne, it appeared, welcomed the idea because it gave him an opportunity to dance with Camilla. Peter, who knew she could go places and do things with Terry any time she wished, but she was not too gracious to him, he also noted with satisfaction.

Peter marvelled at the way she danced. It was no mystery why any man would want her for a partner. He hadn't given much time to such pleasant recreation, and regretted his lack of practice. But Camilla was like thistledown floating on the wind, and he was the wind that carried her hither and yon, only deliciously conscious that he held her in his arms and that nothing else in the world mattered very much just then. "Do you mind so very much if I can't sketch Grecian urns?" she taunted him, laughing up into his face.

He lowered his lips close to her ear. "I'd be very sorry if you could. Because you might not dance so divinely or look so heavenly as you do. You are like a sculptor's most exquisite model come to life—his masterpiece of inspiration given breath—his Galatea."

Camilla caught her own breath happily, not daring to think. She just drifted in ecstasy until the music stopped.

Indian Population Larger

In Last Few Years

Recent Surveys Show Steady Increase

Contrary to the belief held by many people that the Indians are dying out, recent surveys point out that, not only are they not dying out, but the last few years have shown a slow and steady increase in the Indian population.

The latest report of the Department of Indian Affairs shows that the Indians living in Canada number about 108,012, or 3,000 more than when the census was taken eight years ago.

It has also been found in making a survey of the Indian schools that there are 15,000 children enrolled, while in 1916 there were about 13,000.

The Indian of today, however, differs greatly from those who roamed the plains and hunted through the forests in the past. In those days a pony, a little trading of furs for which he received a scanty supply of flour, bacon, blankets and an occasional gun and his wares were satisfied. Today he differs from his ancestors. He wants canned foods, phonographs, radio, outdoor motors and all the other conveniences he sees the white man use.

Many are very well educated. While they may have started in a reserve school, the records show that many are attending high schools and universities, some of whom even become citizens. Looking at the pictures of such graduates as they appear from time to time one realizes that it may not be such a far cry from a feather bonnet to a silk hat—Regina (Evening) Leader-Post.

O VIOLIN!

O violin, sing them away.
The eyes that voted my heart today!
The hope that went unasked today!
The shining dream that was denied.
The long-sought goal I failed to win.
For these give solace, violin!

Deep, deep your throbbing tones can reach
And to my rebel spirit teach
The cause I have failed to see.
The truths that were obscure for me.

O violin, sing on, sing on,
Till all the bitterness is gone!
Lead me along the path to peace.
From pain's hard bondage lead release.

With notes supremely clear and sweet
Free me of memories of defeat.
O violin, sing on again,
Till life has not one fret or stain!

London has a new anti-gambling drive.

Little Helps For This Week

"Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."—Joshua 1:9.

By Thine unerring Spirit led
We shall not in the desert stray;
We shall not full direction need,
Nor miss our providential way.
As far from danger as from fear,
While love, almighty love, is near.

Watch your way then as a cautious traveller, and do not be gazing at the mountain or the river in the distance and saying "How shall I ever get over that?" Keep straight to the present little inch that is before you, and accomplish in the little moment what belongs to it alone. The mountain and the river can only be passed in the same way, and when you come to them you will come to the light and strength that belong to them.—M. A. Keely.

Let not future things disturb thee, for thou wilt come to them with the same reason which thou now usest for present things.—Marcus Antoninus.

Air Transportation

British Plan To Use Planes For Work In Labrador

An ambitious scheme to provide air transportation to the gold mining camps in the interior of Labrador, is announced by Major Christopher Draper, known as the "Mad Major" on account of his daring air exploits during the war.

Major Draper said a 400-ton yacht had been acquired to leave England with a fleet of aeroplanes, one of which will be a balloon carrier. The yacht will sail to a base on the Labrador coast where a camp will be established. From this point the aeroplanes will operate on a regular schedule carrying supplies and passengers.

Glad To Risk Life

Newspapers hailed General Italo Balbo's reception here as second only to the greeting that Col. Lindbergh got when he returned from his Paris flight. Perhaps 700,000 people cheered Balbo as he landed. The Italian air community gave Balbo and his 95 comrades a dinner and heard him say: "We Italian flyers think that life is a poor gift if we cannot risk it every day for the greater glory of our country."

Arab Ladies Do Not Travel

Arab ladies have not yet learned the habit of travel, which is why King Faisal left his Queen at home when he journeyed to England. She is his cousin, and they have a twenty-year-old son and three daughters.

lee jacket of spring green, like the skirt of a daffodil flutters from its green calyx. The bright colors emphasized the blackness of her eyes and hair and Peter had to remind himself severely that she was Camilla Hoyt, the unattainable.

Peter was so maniacal in his evening clothes that he almost lost Camilla's breath away. In fact, both of them were so flustered with the realization they were together at last, that they were silent for some minutes after they were settled in the cab.

"Sorry that I couldn't have a car for you, tonight," he began awkwardly.

"I don't mind," she said quickly. "I have an idea that you are one of think? You don't have to. I should not trouble you with my philosophy. Guess I think too much alone. I'll try to snip out of it and be a better entertainer, more like the ones you are used to."

"But I like you to be serious and philosophical, different from the others," he said. "If you knew how very I am of it, all this—waste of time and energy—being with people I don't like—"

"Then you would rather not have come tonight—"

"Oh, yes! That's just what I'm trying to tell you. You are different, and that's why I like you," she finished gently, her soft eyes turning to him with appeal.

He shivered, with a delightful sensation at her words. "Steady, there," he admonished himself. To Camilla, he said gently, "That's nice. I'll try to deserve your liking me."

In the incoherent glare of the sumptuous theatre foyer, Peter was ill-at-ease, but his manner did not betray his fear of committing some startling faux pas in the presence of the girl. His own humiliation would be serious enough, but Camilla's would be unpardonable. Of course, they encountered friends of Camilla's, who inspected him critically when he was introduced. Society bored him, but he realized that if he were to become successful in his profes-

NERVOUS WOMEN
Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
"I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly." "My nerves are all on edge." "I wish I were dead." ... how often have we heard these expressions from some woman who has become so tired and run-down that her nerves can no longer stand the strain.
No woman should allow herself to drift into this condition if she can help herself. She should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. For nearly sixty years women have taken this wonderful tonic to give them renewed strength and life.
Out of every 100 women who report to us that they are benefited by this medicine, they have been cured of their nervousness, and much the same.

Did You Ever Notice?

Did you ever pause in a post office long enough to take a squint at the floor shortly after a number of people have received their mail? If you have you were probably struck by the number of circulars from letters, handbills, etc. that litter it up. In truth you were doubtless impressed with the fact that many of them had been thrown on the floor as soon as they were removed from their envelopes, the recipients not even taking trouble to give them a second glance. But did you ever notice anyone throwing the newspapers, especially the hometown paper, in the waste basket or on the floor?

Well, right here there's a mighty good argument in favor of advertising in newspapers. The hometown paper goes into the home. Remember this and spend your advertising money accordingly.

Real Light On Russia.

So many conflicting reports as to conditions in Soviet Russia have been given to the public in recent years, and it has been so difficult to distinguish in such reports what is pure propaganda either for or against the political and economic systems now prevailing in that vast country, that people have developed the habit of shrugging their shoulders when Russia is mentioned and refusing to place reliance in much that is told them. It was, therefore, with unusual interest that delegates to the World's Grain Conference at Regina listened to the first hand knowledge which was brought to them by E. J. Strimman, consulting engineer of Brooklyn, Iowa, who was employed by the Soviet Government for several years in connection with its gigantic plans for the mechanization of agriculture as part of its famous five-year plan.

Mr. Strimman had no political axe to grind, he had no propaganda to spread. He merely told an unvarnished story to the assembled world grain experts of the situation as he personally knew it to exist in Russia. And inasmuch as agricultural development in Russia cannot but have a direct effect on agriculture in Western Canada, it is of interest and value to have Mr. Strimman's direct information.

Quoting Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar of Foreign Relations, as stating at Geneva last June that "unemployment, wage cuts, and strikes were unknown in the land of the Soviet," Mr. Strimman commented that they were impossible in a country "where bread craves are granted only to the obedient worker." Control of the country's food supply precluded strikes, he said. There is no unemployment because the country's census takes no account of any but the workers, the unfortunate do not officially exist. There is no necessity for wage cuts for the money the government pays its workers has no value outside Russia. It is paper money and will not be honored for one nickel on a purchase abroad, or on a purchase of imported goods within Russia, Mr. Strimman explained.

Nevertheless there is wage-cutting in a sense, Mr. Strimman giving the following example: The Soviet Government floats government loans each year, requiring each worker to turn back a part of his wages for bonds. In a far job it amounts to a month's wages, which he could use for food. The worker feels this keenly but he does not complain.

Russian workers, he continued, by report always poverty stricken, as a whole today have the worst living conditions of any of the workers of their neighboring countries in Europe. The Russian could meet conditions in his plodding peasant life, but uprooted and the reserve supplies taken from him, he has no way to cope with winter's cold and the fearful winter hunger. The food supply available to Russian workers has fallen off in quantity steadily since 1925. Clothing, bedding and shoe supply are reduced to almost nothing. Housing has become more and more congested in the industrial and agricultural centres promoted by the Soviet.

Describing the system of farming, Mr. Strimman said farmers living in villages going out to farm their own individual strips of land. Bringing the land into collective farms was only to obliterate the dividing lines by farming them in one unit. These collective farms were established before the State farms. The State farms were designed as models in each section for collectives and communes. Exorbitant taxes, no right to purchase, the possibility of fine as an enemy of the plan, and the promise of machinery through the government on their collectives quickly brought to per cent. of the farmers into collectives in the great drives of 1926 and 1927.

A Soviet State farm is never an independent farm in the western world sense. It remains only the link in a vast network of farms, with Moscow as the centre from which emanates all plans, orders and supplies. The man directing these farms is not often an agricultural nor even an engineer. The entire crop is wheat.

State farms are under the direction of a resident farm superintendent. He has several assistants, all with offices and residences in the main settlements. There are directors of the Institute, the experimental station, and of grain production. Each of these have further assistants, the number ever growing without end. They are specialists and did no manual labor. The administrative class grew larger and the working class smaller. Now, in 1933, it has become necessary to drive the office class back to the farm.

Describing how everything is centralized in Moscow, how even a practical director of a State farm had to wait for orders to begin an operation on his farm that he knew was long overdue, but which, although controlling perhaps thousands of workers, he had no right to start without definite orders from Moscow, Mr. Strimman said:

"One question looms large in looking over the situation in this modern dictatorship. How did the government get control over a vast country and over the destinies of a conglomerate people? The answer is simple: She got control of the food supply. Why should any people's government need to hold its people by such a strong leash? Because the government is of the minority party, representing five to seven per cent. of the entire population. Then one wonders why do not more Russians join the Communist party and share the privileges which attend the 'party membership' in Russia today? The answer is that it is made very difficult for a Russian to join the Party, and of late only the children of Communists are allowed to join."

Everything, down to the smallest detail, is dictated from Moscow, and control maintained through a collection of lines, taxes and shares of crop. There is never any lessening of centralization by any such name in official circles. It is always rently explained as an increasing of power in one particular field. This brings us to a very important consideration in a country dominated by five to seven per cent. of the population and it is this, Party Men must be kept in all the major agricultural areas, regardless of ability among "counterparts" because in these officials lies the power to control food production, farming methods, all expenditures, education of the worker and his family. Thus it is the "party men" and "good party men." That is the reason why Communists insist that "politics and farm engineering cannot be separated."

Diarrhoea and Dysentery do not need to run for long length of time until the whole system is weakened and debilitated. Few other diseases so quickly undermine the strength and bring about a condition of prostration and often collapse.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not only powerful and effective in checking the action of the bowels, but at the same time it strengthens, stimulates and braces up the system.

Grain Deterioration

Saskatchewan Research Workers Develop Method For Treating Damp Wheat

The practical value of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference is revealed again in addresses contributed to discussion at the conference side of this mammoth gathering by Dr. H. K. Larmour, J. S. Clayton, and C. L. Wrenshall, of the laboratories of the University of Saskatchewan. These men have been experimenting with wet wheat, with a view to eliminating the development of heat and consequent deterioration of the grain before it reaches the driers at the head of the lakes.

Under rain seasons have not been a common thing in the agricultural life of prairie Canada of recent years, and yet on occasions we do get protracted rainy spells that carry their threat to cut grain. The three Saskatchewan scientists mentioned have developed a vapor called "dew" that is held to be not inflammable in the slightest and that carries no danger to the quality of grain, but that yet effectively prevents damage from heat, mustiness and fungi in the grain consequent upon wet weather.

This would seem to represent a distinct advance in agricultural science, and that Saskatchewan men have been able to reproduce this treatment and impart it to the World's Grain Conference will be a matter of satisfaction to all citizens of this province. —Regina Leader-Post.

Maxims Of His Majesty

Rules For Life Conduct In Workroom At Buckingham Palace

An English journal in its current issue gives favorite quotations of celebrated people and shows again clearly how many men and women whose names and deeds are known through the world fortify their lives by recalling great sayings and sentiments. This list of great people is headed by His Majesty King George and his list of quotations is one that is being reproduced for its own sake as well as for the eminence of the one who uses it. These sentiments that hang in his workroom at Buckingham Place read:

Teach me to be obedient to the rules of the game.

Teach me to distinguish between sentiment and sentimentality, admiring the one and despising the other. Teach me neither to proffer nor to receive cheap praise.

If I am called upon to suffer, let me be like a well-oiled wheel that goes away to suffer in silence.

Teach me to win if I may; if I may not, teach me to be a good loser.

Teach me neither to cry for the moon nor to cry over spilled milk.

There is a fine philosophy of life in these various maxims. Their reading enables one to understand better the wisdom and restraint and good sense and understanding usefulness of King George during his reign. Humble folk fighting life's daily battles may find some inspiration in these maxims. They are given to that end. —Regina Leader-Post.

Round Up Criminals

International Organization Formed To Conduct Drive On Crooks

Police of several nations organized recently in Chicago the "international world police" to chase the criminal from his haunts over the globe.

The new international organization was formed at a meeting of Canadian, American and European police officials attending conferences sponsored by Barron Collier, special deputy police commissioner of New York City, and representing the Canadian and the international association of chiefs of police, Winnipeg was represented by Chief Chris H. Newton.

Prefer Native Workers

Many thousands foreign residents in Chile are affected by a new law stipulating that 95 per cent. of all factory and office workers must be of Chilean nationality. Many will have to leave the country to seek work elsewhere. If the foreigner has been in the country 10 years, or is married to a Chilean, he is not required to leave. He will be exempt if he is performing duties for which a native is unskilled.

RIVERBEND SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

Manitoba Institution Devoted To The Educational And Aesthetic Development Of Young Canadian Womanhood

Attended by success from its inception, Riverbend Schools for Girls, Winnipeg, will continue its work as a boarding and day school for girls with the reopening in September according to the prospectus just off the press. A hundred per cent. academic record was again maintained when the 1933 results of the departmental examinations appeared in July, a tribute to the efforts of the teaching staff under the principalship of Miss Joan M. V. Foster, M.A., and to the dual advantage of limited enrollment and small classes, with consequent individual attention to the pupils.

The school was established in September, 1929, under the auspices of giving western Canada one more educational institution to fill a special need in a growing population. The following year a new building to be used as a main school, was erected and the present group of three imposing structures includes also the former residence of Col. G. H. Atkins, K.C., a son of the original donor.

Regularly inspected by the department of education, the school has faced scrutiny with a proud record, its student body, fully aware of the significance of establishing tradition for their Alma Mater.

Riverbend begins the full term with a teaching staff of fourteen, with Miss Foster again as principal and distinguished in history. All holding academic standing of a high order and with tested teaching experience, the members of the staff are specialists in pursuits devoted to the educational and aesthetic development of cultured Canadian womanhood. Assisting the principal are: Miss Barbara May Erbe, B.A., London University, in English; Miss M. Floyd Stephens, B.A., also London University, in French and German; Miss Beatrice Wilson, B.A., Toronto, in Scripture and Mathematics; Miss Mary E. White, M.A., of Oxford and Queens, in Latin; Miss Marian MacDougall, B.Sc., of Dalhousie, in Science and Mathematics; Miss Florence P. B. Mow, of the Margaret Eaton School, in Physical Education; Mrs. Donald Munroe, Manitoba Agricultural College, as house manager.

In the junior school, presided over by Miss Laura Cull, are Misses S. M. Gray, B.A., of Manitoba University, for grades V and VI; Miss Verna V. Vaux, for grades III and IV; Mrs. Gordon I. Jamieson, in the kindergarten and Mrs. Nina Ferguson Dempsey, A.T.C.M., L.A.B., in school singing and music appreciation; Miss M. Loring, the efficient secretary.

Increased attention has been paid to the teaching of Grade XII work, and the course of study, following in general that of the Manitoba school system, begins at the kindergarten and includes the grade emphasis.

Repeating emphasis, explains Miss Foster, is placed on those subjects which are most important from a cultural standpoint, such as, for example, English, French and music, the teaching of French, including conversation at meals, a French club, and other extra curricular activities which help to make it something more than a class-room subject.

From a graduate of the Margaret Eaton School of Physical Education, Toronto, pupils of Riverbend are given instruction in corrective gymnastics and physical education which includes practically all the indoor and outdoor sports of well-rounded living.

Ideally situated on the wooded curves of the Assiniboine River, the school, capable of accommodating 100 pupils and with an attendance in its first few years between 120 and 150 including both day and boarding students, supplies a "school away from home" of the highest standard.

Many names prominent in the social and cultural life of the west appear on its enlarged advisory council. Besides thirty-one from Winnipeg including Mrs. E. C. Harte, chateleine of Government House, and Mrs. John Bracken, wife of the provincial premier, are Mrs. C. E. Armstrong, Moose Jaw; Mrs. Robert Forke, Pipestone; Mrs. C. F. Adams, Calgary; Mrs. A. F. Laird, Yorkton; Mrs. R. C. Wallace, Edmonton; Mrs. J. E. Brownlie, Edmonton; Mrs. W. C. Murray, Saskatoon; Mrs. T. A. Neelin, Brandon; Mrs. Douglas J. Thom, Regina; Mrs. M. M. Scott, Calgary, and Miss Alice Fife, Kenora.

Barley As A Food

Mentioned in Exodus 9:31, and in other books of the Bible, barley was one of the most important foods of the human race for thousands of years. Here meal, as barley meal is called in Scotland, forms a favorite dish of porridge at the present day.

Has a hundred uses. Always have a box in the kitchen.

United States And European Radio Programs To Be Heard Over Canadian Stations

Canadian radio listeners will hear over Canadian stations outstanding United States and European radio programmes as a result of arrangements completed between the Canadian radio broadcasting commission and the big broadcasting companies of United States—National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia broadcasting system.

These arrangements were concluded in New York by Thomas Maher, vice-chairman of the commission. In return for the American programmes, which are to be supplied to the commission for its national network, the commission is to supply the American companies with some of its popular programmes for broadcasting throughout United States. Announcement of the arrangement was made Friday by the commission.

Programmes to come to the commission from the United States include grand opera from the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, and the concerts of the New York Philharmonic orchestra. The American broadcasting companies are also to supply programmes of their own creation in which famous singers and orchestras will be employed.

In addition to supplying the commission with American programmes, the United States broadcasting companies are to make available to the commission the broadcasts of important events and other features which they bring across the Atlantic from Great Britain and the continent.

As the programmes will be carried on the commission network to stations in all parts of Canada, reception difficulties in connection with these will be overcome.

The exchange of programmes is a co-operative step and is without cost to the commission.

The United States end of the exchange will commence about October 1.

Over Twelve Million Chinese Living Abroad

Population In Canada Is Given As Forty-Five Thousand

Chinese agitators against the so-called foreign imperialism never tell their listeners the magnitude of China's communities in other countries. However, the Chinese overseas affairs commission announced that 12,780,172 of their people reside in the United States and elsewhere beyond China.

Out of 22 nations or groups of nations listed, the United States ranks fourteenth in number of Chinese residents, the total being 74,954. Burma ranks well ahead with 3,450,000 Chinese, while Siam with 2,500,000 is second and Malaysia is third with 2,000,000. In Dutch East Indies there are 1,233,856, in Korea 915,000, in Hong Kong 825,045, in Indo-China 480,000, in Formosa 340,000, in Soviet Russia 300,000.

Mexico, which is rapidly becoming the graveyard of Chinese settlers, is listed as having 120,000 and ranks tenth in the list. However, hundreds of Chinese have just arrived back in China and more are to follow.

Macau, Cuba and the West Indies and the Philippines rank just ahead of the United States in Chinese residents. Following thereafter in decreasing proportions come Australia and the South Seas Islands, Canada with 45,000, Peru and Latin America, Honolulu, Japan with 25,000, South Africa, Panama and Central America, with 25,000 and Europe with but 15,000 Chinese.

A young man who had suddenly inherited a fortune decided to learn how to carry himself in society. He went to a school of deportment, and a boxing Frenchman begged him to enter.

"Do you give lessons in deportment?" inquired the young man.

"The best, m'sieur," gushed the proprietor. "My system is perfect. Two weeks ago a young man, like you, m'etien, he take only three of my lessons in deportment and yesterday he was deported."

Retire Civil Servants

Order Requested To Retire Those Who Have Passed Age Of 65 Years

Pursuant to the governments efforts to reduce the annual cost of public service by an amount estimated in the budget speech last March to reach $14,000,000, the government in council passed an order providing for the retirement of civil servants who have reached or may reach the age of 65 years.

This is only one of the methods being adopted by the government in its economy efforts and the number of employees concerned is estimated at about 1,500 throughout Canada. These retired will receive their superannuation allowances as provided under statute, and if not contributors to any retirement fund, will be given bonuses amounting to one month's salary for each two years they have been in the service up to a maximum of six month's salary.

Something New In Oil Wells

Has Been Producing Pure Vaseline For Ten Years

A freak oil well which came in ten years ago as a producer of almost pure vaseline is still pumping the heavy golden substance and paying its owner at Lamar, Oklahoma, handsome returns.

Perhaps the only well of its kind in the world, the well is a marvel to veteran oil men, both as to the oil it produces and its life. The well has followed the oil industry in many climes said they never have seen or heard of a similar well.

The well was drilled in at 3,710 feet on Jan. 26, 1923, for production estimated at 350 barrels a day. The "vaseline well" still produces around this amount and still is the only well in the area. Other drilling attempts have produced dry holes.

The strange kind of oil flowed over the derrick 200 feet when the well was drilled in. Dark green in color, the oil turned a brilliant golden yellow when it struck the outside air. Analysis showed it to be almost pure vaseline. It was so heavy that it hung from fences near the well like gum.

Because of its thickness ordinary pipe lines would not carry it. A special line with a steam pipe to heat the almost solid lubricant, was used.

New Guide For Airship

Pilot Can Leave Cockpit Without Endangering Craft Or Self

After two years of experiments, the "airrobot," a compact box one foot square and weighing less than 30 pounds, has been perfected to take complete charge of an aeroplane after it hops off.

Encased in a metal box, the automatic pilot would guide the ship to any predetermined height, level off and start on a charted course without a human pilot touching the controls.

Gyroscopically controlled and hydraulically operated, the device includes an automatic turn control, and automatic climb lever and a descent control. The human pilots can leave the cockpit for any length of time during actual flight without endangering the flight.

One of the airrobots now is in use in a passenger aeroplane of a well-known air line. The machines average 180 miles an hour on a transcontinental jaunt.

The device does not dispense with the services of the pilot or co-pilot. Pilots are required to take off and land the aeroplanes and to keep a close check on weather soundings.

Week In Civilization

Enough For Trapper

Makes No Apologies For Desire To Return To Northland

A week in civilization is enough for Ranger Jonsson, one of the best known trappers in the far north, in Prince Albert recently on his annual jaunt into the land of automobiles and depression.

He left again for Big River where he planned to push off his big canoe and paddle his way to his trapping grounds in the Hatchet Lake country, 400 miles from Flin Flon, Manitoba. He and his dog, followed the waterways to Flin Flon from their northern home, shipped the canoe to Big River, spent four days in Prince Albert, and then away again.

He was a visitor at Prince Albert last summer and promised to go back next year. Civilization has its attractions but the hardy trapper makes no apologies for his desire to get back to the land of trees and water.

Listening to his stories of experiences and looking at the wonderful collection of snapshots of his outfit, his far catch and of the scenic wonder of the northland, makes that desire understandable.

He spoke lightly of carrying his canoe and equipment over mile portages necessitating seven trips back and forth or a total of 14 miles walking. On the round trip, there are 60 of them, though only a few are that long.

A trader in the city stated that each year Jonsson comes in with the largest catch from the north. In addition to that, he is what is known as a "clean" trapper; his stock is always in good shape on its arrival.

Carrots Good For Cattle

Benefit Shown In Heavy and Glossy Coats

Experiments or some Chicago experts for several years have proven that the lowly carrot, favorite food of rabbits, is one of the best internal hair tonics yet discovered.

The vegetable's beneficial effects was first noticed when cattle were fed on carrots. Their coats became heavy and glossy.

Experts experimented on humans, and declare the carrot diet causes noticeable improvement, but that it does not equal that of animals.

The London Daily Express carried a long interview with Robert Cromie, publisher of The Vancouver Sun, who has just returned from Russia where, he said, "life goes on just the same as it goes on in England or Canada or China. Once you get that thought in your mind, you get a new conception of Russia," he added.

The newspaper quoted Mr. Cromie as saying:

"I landed in Moscow on their Derby day. I saw 50,000 people at the horse races betting on the ponies just like they bet in England. They were having drinks and lunches, but of course, it was all on the Russian standard which is not Ascot by 20 lengths."

"But the spirit of the people was the same as any crowd in England or Canada. The tram cars of Russian cities are jammed with people. They are completing an underground system in Moscow in 1934. I saw a crowd of 50,000 well-mannered, enthusiastic people watching a football match in Moscow. That was an eye-opener to me."

"I hear some critics say that conditions were not too bad in Moscow; but that down in the Ukraine people are starving. Someone from the Ukraine told me that the people in Moscow are starving too. Everything one hears about Russia is both true and untrue. It is time the civilized world began to sort them out."

Studying Crime Impulse

Committee In London Seeking Its Cause and Cure

A secret inquiry is being conducted by a committee in London to deal with the problem of the "uncontrollable impulse" in its relation to crime.

The committee which has held several meetings, is composed of magistrates, business men, psychologists, medical men, a K.C., and a well-known "criminal" barrister.

When the investigation is completed a report will be sent to the Home Office with suggestions on a question that for years has baffled judges and doctors.

Questions relating to the treatment and punishment of offenders susceptible to "uncontrollable impulse" form the basis of the inquiry which is being conducted by men who have had opportunities of observing how it affects people in different walks of life. Two points under consideration, for instance, are:

How far, if at all, should a person be punished for an offence committed under an uncontrollable impulse?

Can that impulse be checked in youth, or eradicated if allowed to persist?

The investigation which, it is believed, may prove of considerable importance in criminal jurisprudence, developed on the subject of kleptomania.

A woman in high social position had been charged with stealing from a London store, and the plea of "uncontrollable impulse" was raised in mitigation.

The activities of the committee, however, are not limited to considering the problem as it affects shoplifting. They realize that while the impulse takes that form in one case, there is a great variety of forms—many of them leading to very serious offences.

Expert advice gained by the members in their different capacities has been placed before the inquiry, and some illuminating information relating to cases and treatment has been collected.

New Coinage For Spain

Coins which bear the head of ex-King Alfonso are to be replaced in a few weeks by the new coinage of the Spanish Republic. The head of Don Alfonso will be replaced on the face of the peseta by a female figure representing the republic on the reverse will be the arms of Spain. The 20-cent piece coin will have a symbol of the Republic of Workers with a peasant shaking hands with an industrial worker.
